NEW WATER LINES MEAN AN INCREASE IN VOLUME

Improvements Completed at Second and Seventh Streets

SUPPLY IS MADE DIRECT

Recommendations of Underwriters Association Fulfilled by Water Company

Adding o the volume of the water supply over the town and carrying out the recommendation of the Underwriter's Association, the Charleroi Water company has completed the laying of cross lines to mains on Second and Seventh streets On Friday a 16-inch rising main to the supply feed lines was placed in use on Second street. The Water company has been engaged in the work of laying it for the past week. Previous to that the work on Seventh stree.. was completed.

By the connection of the ne w rising main at Second street, the town is being fed largely directly from the pump station. This system was partly in effect before. Water is pumped into the different lines on the different streets of the town from which the supply for customers is taken. What water is not used goes to the reservoir. Water in the reservoirs is kept fresh by the supply being from there during certain portions of each 24 hours.

The Seventh street cross-line which connects the line running along McKean avenue with that running along Crest avenue is really a reinforcement and was laid as an additional safeguard. It is an 8-inch line. This line feeds from the reservoir along Oakland avenue, Ninth street, Crest avenue Eighth street and thence down to Seventh and to McKean avenue. There is a 12-inch main leading from the reservoir and there is to be an additional 16-inch main feeding to the town to be laid from there. This will be an additional safeguard.

By the new lines at Second street and Seventh street the average flow of water will be increased to over 2,000 gallons for eight fire hose, as required by the Underwriters Department.

Engineers of the Underwriters Department are expected to be here shortly to make tests of the water service and ascertain if the additions and improvements are satisfactory. If so an additionaal reduction of 30 cents in the penalty rates for each $1,000 of insurance will be declared in re-rating. By the new system put into effect by the Charleroi Water company there is practically no danger of the town suffering from a lack of water even for a short period The pump station could be closed down for days at a time and the people never know it, owing to the reserve supply of water which would be kept on hand in the reservoir However this will not be done.

ELIZABETH McGUIRE IS CLAIMED VICTIM BY THE OPEN GRATE

Five-Year-Old Luella Avenue Girl Reaches for Article on Mantel and Her Dress Takes Fire

In the person of Elizabeth McGuire the 5-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGuire of Luella avenue, the open grate this morning claimed another victim. The little girl received burns last night at about 7 o'clock and death occurred this morning at 9 o'clock She was conscious from the time of the accident until the time of her death.

Little Elizabeth was alone for a little while in one of the rooms when a fire was burning in the grate. Reaching up to the mantel for some little article she desired her clothing took fire. In a moment her dress was all ablaze. Running to the top of the stairs leading to the cellar she called to her brothers and sisters there and they hastened to her aid.

Removing their coats hastily they threw them around the little girl and extinguished the flames but not until she had been fatally burned. Dr. N. W. Patton was called but could do nothing to save the child's life. Mr. McGuire is a well known resident in Charleroi, being employed by the Greensboro Gas company.

An enthusiastic Republican rally was held at California Friday evening at which Assemblyman William Feeney of Charleroi was one of the prominent speakers The skating rink where the meeting was held was crowded, and a reception committee composed of prominent citizens met the candidates and spellbinders and discussed the issues of the campaign.

Assemblyman Feeney talked on State affairs and also local conditions. He stated that he was a Republican and that he believed firmly in the principles of the Republican party. He reviewed the vast benefits coming to the people from the party and called upon them to reciprocite by voting the entire ticket in the coming election.

GOVERNOR COMMENDS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

State Executive Tells Chester County Prosecutor He Did Duty in Pushing Case Against Lynchers

The Executive Department at Harrisburg has made public letters passing between Governor John K. Tener, and District Attorney Robert S. Gawthrop of Chester county. The Governor says there has evidently been a gross miscarriage of justice in the Coatesville lynching cases, but he warmly commends the District Attorney for his efforts to secure convictions. The Governor says:

Since the close of your court term, when some eight cases growing out of the Coatesville lynching were tried. I have had in mind writing to you, but only now find time to do so.

From my own knowledge as well as from information received through the Attorney General's department, I know that with a full and correct sense of your oath of office you have performed your duties incident thereto and in connection with these cases with fidelity, and great ability. Speaking for the State I commend your every act, and Chester county should deem itself fortunate to command the services of so faithful and capable an official.

From the evidence secured and submitted there has evidently been a miscarriage of justice, but since we rest our faith in the jury and jury system, we must abide by their verdict. The time will come, I am sure, when your splendid work will be recognized and commended by all the good citizens of Chester county, as it is now by all right thinking people throughout the Commonwealth.

In the cases yet to be tried I urge the same zeal upon your part as you have exhibited in the cases just concluded, and I sincerely hope that Chester county may not forget its obligation to law, to State and to civilization .

Please permit me to express to you my very great appreciation of your letter of commendation received this morning.

I am gratified beyond measure to know that you believe that the prosecutions in the Coatesville lynching cases were conducted earnestlly and faithfully But the result cannot fail to shake one's faith in the trial by jury. Mr. Cunningham has doubltess told you that the commonwealth had some almost perfect cases and should have received prompt convictions.

I am deeply indebted to you for the personal interest you have taken in the matter and it is a pleasure to be able to assure you that our best people commend the State as well as the county authorities for their zeal and courage.

It is impossible to predict what future juries may do.

Following the arrests of four men on the street for creating a disturbance on the street Wednesday evening two more were arrested to be taken before Burgess George W. Risbeck. The arrests were made in connection with the same affair. Robert Frew and Sherman Kiefer were the two placed under arrest. Both left forfeits of $3. Steel Town Working Hard for Its Candidate for Office

IN THE GAME TO N

Same Kind of Backing J. K. Tener Got in Charleroi Will be Given

Like Charleroi, when John K. Tener was a candidate first for Congress and later for Governor and the town out of civic pride gave him an almost unanimous vote, Donora is making the same effort for its candidate. Dr. A. V. Lewis, Republican nominee for prothonotary. The chances are that the doctor will leave Donora with nearly if not quite 1,000 votes to his credit. This will give him a tremendous lead in the county and one that can hardly be overcome should the Republican vote happen to slump elsewhere, which is not expected

Last Wednesdaay the Republicans of Donora opened headquarters in the First National Bank building, which will be open during the remainder of the campaign. An oranization has been effected and a systematic effort will be made from this time hence to get the vote out on election day. So great is the enthusiasm for the home candidate and the rest of the ticket, that the work and interest on the part of Donora hustlers is not going to stop at the corporate limits of the town. They are preparing to make a complete canvass of the county.

For this purpose they have appointed a committee of 25 of the leading Republicans of the town, who will each spend at least two days visiting various parts of the county in the interest of Dr. Lewis in particular and the rest of the ticket incidentally. Not a corner of the county is to be overlooked by this committee, who propose to make a most thorough canvass. This committee is composed of the following well known citizens:

J. P. Castner, E. J. Iiams, James T. Rabe, Herman Dague, John Vogel, Dr. M. H. Day, Jacob Ostrander, O. G. Frazier, Harry L. Beck, George W. Allen, C. T. Lewis, Councilman W. T. Rabe, Sam Wilson, Dr. W. T. Whitledge, Squire W. S. Coatsworth, Wm. Tobin, Peter Saunders, Dr. W. H. Lewis, Dr. W. J. Add Sprowls, J. C. Laing, Dr. W. H. Cowan, Chas, Ceglarski, Burgess W. S. Spragg, Squire F. B. Hambry, and D. S. Bayne.

Already arrangements are being made for the big Republican rally to be held at Donora on Thursday night of next week. There is to be a mammoth parade, red fire, oratory, and a big time generally. The local committee proposes to have the blowout go on record and it is expected to be the biggest and most enthusiastic demonstration ever held in Donora

A FAVORABLE PROSPECT

There is one good prospect in store for Charleroi next season and that is the number of roads which are to be constructed both by the State and the county. The roads promised this season by State Commissioner E. M. Bigelow between Speers and Charleroi and between this town and Monongahela are sure to be started early in the season if a start is not made this fall, which will add to the industrial developments of the community. It is also possible that the county road between Charleroi and Donora may be approved by the grand jury and constructed next season, which is a work of considerable proportions.

All this will make work for the community, and will take the place for a season if no longer of the plants that are shut down. What is needed now above all things is the work for the people who already live in Charleroi. With the suspension of the Plate Glass plant and the Charleroi Coal works, a thousand workers are thrown idle who formerly were employed. While some of these have sought and obtained work elsewhere, others are still idle. The road work next season will be a big help to the community and while that is in progress, something more may turn up.

WHAT THEN?

With the beginning of proceedings against the United States Steel corporation by the Government, steps are being taken to dissolve that gigantic corporation. As a matter of course the basis of the suit is the supposed restraint of trade by the big corporation due to a practical monopolization of business in the iron and steeel industry, as well as numerous other subsidiary interests included in the gigantic corporation.

Suppose that the big trust is completely dissolved as a large element of people seem to desire, and conditions that previously existed are restored. What is likely to happen? History would no doubt repeat itself. Private interests would compete remorselessly for the business and prices would be based on the necessities of each and every firm to do business. Price cutting would soon follow, wages would be reduced, until the entire industry would again be demoralized. Mills and mines would shut down, and the whole industry would be in the same chaotic condition as the bituminous coal mining industry is today. Unrestrained competition has as many evils as the trust, in these days of fierce competition for business.

While it is desired to curb the trusts from the exterme of complete monopolization, this is an era of combination of resources, and progress cannot be attained without the co-operation of interests. It takes big capital, big brains and big men to work out the material problems of the present age, and efforts to prevent this is a sprag in the wheel of progress. There is a rational middle ground to pursue, and a return to previous conditions of unrestrained competition will result in the old wasteful methods and a rapid dissipation of the natural resources which will ultimately retard the march of civilization. It is well to restrain the trusts, but to "bust" them completely will be like pulling down the pillars of the temple.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Most any one can be an editor," says G. H. Thomas, in the Monessen Friday Evening Call "All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days out of the week, four weeks of the month and twelve months of the year and 'edit' such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry.

"A mischievous lad of Piketown threw a stone and struck Mr. Jike in the alley last Tuesday.

"John Doe climed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch.

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green several times on the public square.

"Isaiah Trimmer of Running Creek was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda.

"Mr. Fong while harnessing a broncho last Saturday was kicked just south of his corn patch.

"Yes, it's a wonder they draw salaries for it."

"Speaking of Percival Phillips, the Brownsville boy who is now serving as a correspondent in the war between Italy and Turkey at Tripoli, for a London newspaper, reminds me of the sendoff the boys on the Pittsburg Dispatch gave him when he left that city for New York to serve as correspondent in the metropolis for the Dispatch," said a valley newspaper man a day or two ago. "Percy, was one of the reporters on the Dispatch, and received the promotion, and the boys all assembleed in the news room to bid him good bye the night he started for New York He brought his overcoat and suit case to the office—his 'keister' and his 'benny'—as the show people say—and left them there while he paid his respects to his fellow workers

"Then it was that one of the boys went to the exchange desk and cutting the heading off a weekly Ohio exchange, pasted it across the side of Percey's suit case. Percy never noticed it until he got into the Union Station when he saw many people staring at him and smiling. Then he glanced down on his suit case and there in bold type was the label, 'Xenia Torchlight and Examiner.'

" 'I'm country looking enough without being labeled,' said Percy, when he saw the joke was on him.' "

SUPERSTITIONS OF THE HOME

Some of Them Are Traced to Domestic Economy and Others to Thrifty Habits.

The signs and wonders of the household have markedly diminished in the last quarter century. Many of them were picturesque and diverting. Few of them were taken seriously enough to be harmful.

It is easy to trace some of them to their sources in domestic economy. A group of them, for example, had to do with the approach of an unexpected guest. The scissors or a knife sticking up straight in the floor, a dropped dish cloth, or a long, floating stem in a cup of tea—all these foretold arrivals. They had the agreeable double effect of keeping the household up to a high mark of preparedness and of breaking monotony by the pleasure of anticipated society. If the prophesied caller followed the dropping of scissors the sign received an increased authority. When the promise failed, the failure was promptly forgotten.

Another group of superstitions rests upon the thrifty habits of former times. To pick up a pin brought good luck. To neglect to snuff a candle until it was wasted by a "weeper" was sure to involve misfortune. An overabundance of tea grounds in the cup spoke of careless measures, and so threatened debt. A second helping of food before the first was eaten foretold an undesirable beggar.

The woman's mind, if left to itself, turns naturally to believe the make-believe. A housewife likes to pit her unreason against her reason. The mere act of absurd illogic gives variety and charm to an otherwise dull afternoon of housework, and nobody is the worse for stretching the arm of imagination to include a little mild superstition of the old fashioned sort.

Aged Woman Dies at Home of Daughter

Mrs. Dixon, Aged 83 Expires After Suffering Nearly Four Months

After suffering for nearly four months of dropsy, Mrs. Eliza Jane Dixon, aged 83 years and 28 days, died this morning at 11:55 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs M. E. Johntson, at 302 Fifth street. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, with Rev. F. A. Richards, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. L. W. Shey, rector of the Episcopal church officiating.

Mrs. Dixon has lived in Charleroi the last six years, coming here from Fayette City which was her home the greater part of her life. She was the widow of Ralph Dixon, who died six years ago.

Three sons and two daughters survive. They are Mrs. Johnston of Charleroi, Mrs. John Heiber of Venetia; John of Donora, Alexander and Hudson of Fayette City. There are also 42 grand children, 27 great grand children and one great-great grand child living.

Mrs. Dixon was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church here and was a faithful worker when her health would permit.

Washington County Man Dies in Ohio

Mrs. John Crites returned recently from New Concord, Ohio, where she had been attending the funeral of her father, a former well known resident of Washington county. This was Willam Paden, who died at his Ohio home September 18, at the ripe age of 93 years and three months.

The surviving family consists of six children of whom Mrs. Crites of Charleroi is the eldest. Mr. Paden moved from Washington county to a farm near New Concord in Ohio in 1868, that he might be better able to give his children a college education. Four of these graduated in one of the regular courses in Muskingum College and one from the musical course.

Mr. Paden was an active worker in the Presbyterian church and before the Civil War was an ardent Abolitionist, and took an active part in anti-slavery work. Later he became a Prohibitionists, and was one of a large class of citizens whose work and influence has resulted in making Ohio a virtually dry State. His life work left a deep impression in the community where he lived, and although he had passed the alloted time of man his death was sincerely regretted by all

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI.

Big features were the rule instead of the exception at the Palace Theatra this week. In addition to "Colleen Bawn," the thrilling photoplay of Dion Boucicault's great Irish drama, which with three reels occupied the entire facilities of the theatre for one night, came some realistic pictures of the Austin Disaster. These were in the Pathe Weekly Bulletin, and showed the wreckage in the path of the destructive deluge which killed 80 people and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property. The pictures showed the havoc wrought in the two towns of Austin and Costello, which were entirely wiped out by the bursting of the big dam above the towns. Other good photoplays occupied the boards, and with Miss Helen Atwill's charming singing in spot light and illustrated songs, the Palace h as been a most popular resort this week, drawing capacity crowds at the most of the performances, and not being able to accommodate all at the special features.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

The Star Theatre presented extraordinary interest in its attractions this week, the chief of which was the great thee reel film, "The James Boys," or In Old Missouri." This was a presentation of the great guerilla warfare, which caracterized the border struggle between Kansas and Missouri in the contest for and against the extension of Slave holding territory. "Mut and Jeff and the Newsboys" was another delightful feature, and other striking photoplays were "Pals," and "Her Captive." In order to accommodate all his patrons Manager Tom Cowan gave a continual performance all day Thursday and in the evening when the great James Bros film was on exhibition.

THE NIXON—PITTSBURG.

The many thousands who have read the story, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," written by John Fox, Jr., will be impatient to see the play, which Eugene Walter, the clever dramatist has evolved from the delightful narrative of the Virginia hills, and which comes to the Nixon Theatre the week of October 30

It is a soul stirring, dramatic tale of the mountain, with a wild, primitive girl as the pivot on which swings a thrilling plot In Mr. Walter's version you follow the same trail that the author of the book guided you up to reach the lone mountain cabin and the tall, rugged, lonely tree, though the the dramatist has cast a more subtle veil of romance over his protagonist, June, and makes her the cause of the deadly feud that starts between the factional mountaineers Klaw and Earlanger have given the play a magnificent setting, and the company is headed by Charlotte Walker, one of America's most brilliant actresses

Engineers Working on New Route

Surveyors Laying Out Plan for Proposed Hill Highway

Surveyors representing the P. & L. E. railroad it is understood are at work trying to locate a practical route for a hill road between Monessen and Webster. It is said the railroad company wants to make use of the river road for additional tracks.

If the railroad can locate a practical route over the hill which will not have too great a grade it is possible than an exchange will be made.

LET GO WHEN FINE IS PAID

After having begun to serve his sentence of 30 days on a charge of disorderly conduct, Kenneth Matson was released from jail Friday evening upon payment of his fine and costs by his mother. Matson was sent to jail together with Ben Keifer and Robert McCurry for raising a disturbance on the street. Chief of Police C. W. Albright made the information and each of the three young men were sentenced to 30 days in jail when their fines of $10 each with the costs were unpaid.

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

IF a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

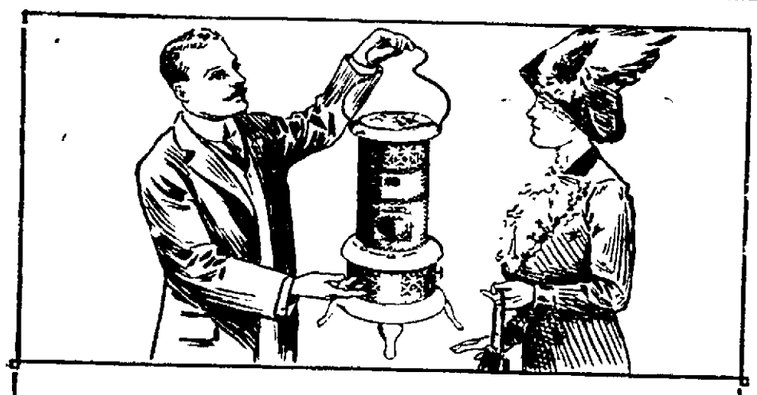
For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.



An Innovation in Oil Heaters

The Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater, with its drums enameled in turquoise, is an ornament to any room, whether in the country or city home.

No home is quite complete without a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a necessity in the fall and spring, when it is too warm to start the regular heating apparatus, and too cool to be without heat. In the midst of winter it is often convenient as an auxiliary heater, as there are always some cold corners in a house.

The enameled heater always presents a nice appearance, as the enamel will not tarnish or burn off. It is not an "enamel paint," but it is the same as the enamel of your cooking utensils.

The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient portable heating device you can find. An automatically-locking flame spreader prevents turning the wick high enough to smoke.

DEVIL B...D HAS A../FUL CRY

Natives of Ceylon Are Not to Be Blamed for Being Terrified by Its Scream.

Of all the awe-inspiring sounds emitted by wild creatures, none, it is said, is to be compared to that of the "devil bird" of Ceylon, whose cry has been likened to the scream of a human being undergoing the most frightful torture. Naturalists have identified this bird with the brown wood-owl found in Hindustan

The natives of Ceylon regard the cry of this bird with superstitious horror, for, it is claimed, its scream heard at night presages the most dire misfortunes.

A British official of the Ceylon civil service has given some study to this curious bird Its ordinary note, he states, is a magnificent clear shout like that of a human being heard at a great distance, and producing a fine effect in the silence of the night.

But the sounds that have earned for the bird its bad name, and which this officer reports he heard to perfection but once, are said to be well-nigh indescribable, the most appalling that can be imagined, and scarcely to be heard without a shudder It has been compared to the cries of a boy in torture, whose screams are being stopped by strangulation.—Scientific American.

IT PLEASES THE SERVANTS

Berlin Police Arbitrarily Fix the Sums They Shall Be Allowed for Food.

Another instance of the way in which the Berlin police authorities interest themselves in every detail of the private life of the city's inhabitants is afforded by a decree just issued by the police president which arbitrarily fixes the sum per day which is to be allowed for food to domestic servants during their employers' absence in summer.

The term "domestic servant" includes everything, from the maid of all work of the small household to the butler, with all his retinue of lesser lights, in the house of the rich, and the decree lays down that each man servant shall receive a daily allowance of 35 cents and each maid servant 30 cents for food during the whole time of their employer's absence.

The new police regulation has been greeted with more delight by the servants than by their employers, especially among the middle classes, where the domestic servant problem in Germany is already acute enough Although the amount of the daily allowance cannot be considered as excessive in relation to the present prices of food, when it is remembered that the ordinary wage, which in Germany is anything from $7.50 per month upward for the average domestic servant, has also to be paid during the employer's absence, it will be seen that the new regulation will mean a considerable item in the reckoning of the middle-class family about to start on its summer vacation

PERSECUTION OF THE GIPSY

Forty-five Executed in Hungary in 1728 on the Charge of Being Cannibals.

The persecution of Gypsies recalls the old belief that the Gypsies were cannibals, and the methods by which judicial confirmation of the belief was sometimes obtained. In 1728 45 Hungarian Gypsies were executed on this charge. First racked until they confessed to murder, they were taken to the place where their victims were supposed to be buried and racked again. No bodies were discovered. Therefore they confessed to eating them, and were duly executed. Joseph II. sent a commission down to investigate the case later, and the entire innocence of the Gypsies was proved, but history does not say what happened to the witnesses for the prosecution.

Gypsies are still more or less "persecuted," though in our milder modern sense of the word. And no wonder . A couple of years ago it was stated on official authority that in Hungary most of the serious crimes—murders, kidnaping and r. beries—were committed by Gypsies, and very few of the offenders were caught. Gypsies are mighty difficult customers to tackle. When it was proposed in France that all nomads should have identity cards, to be checked at each stopping place, one of them said to a Matin reporter: "But I can't read, and I can't write, and I don't know how old I am, nor where I was born, and I don't remember the names of the places where my children were born, nor their ages exactly. We don't bother ourselves about such things" What can you do with people so astutely ignorant?

NEW WATER LINES MEAN AN INCREASE IN VOLUME

Improvements Completed at Second and Seventh Streets

SUPPLY IS MADE DIRECT

Recommendations of Underwriters Association Fulfilled by Water Company

Adding o the volume of the water supply over the town and carrying out the recommendation of the Underwriter's Association, the Charleroi Water company has completed the laying of cross lines to mains on Second and Seventh streets On Friday a 16-inch rising main to the supply feed lines was placed in use on Second street. The Water company has been engaged in the work of laying it for the past week. Previous to that the work on Seventh street was completed.

By the connection of the new rising main at Second street, the town is being fed largely directly from the pump station. This system was partly in effect before. Water is pumped into the different lines on the different streets of the town from which the supply for customers is taken. That water is not used goes to the reservoir. Water in the reservoirs is kept fresh by the supply being from here during certain portions of each 24 hours.

The Seventh street cross-line which connects the line running along McKean avenue with that running along Crest avenue is really a reinforcement and was laid as an additional safeguard It is an 8-inch line. This line feeds from the reservoir along Oakland avenue, Ninth street, Crest avenue Eighth street and thence down Seventh and to McKean avenue. There is a 12-inch main leading from the reservoir and there is to be an additional 16-inch main feeding to the town to be laid from there This will be an additional safeguard.

By the new lines at Second street and Seventh street the average flow of water will be increased to over 2,000 gallons for eight fire hose, as required by the Underwriters Department.

Engineers of the Underwriters Department are expected to be here shortly to make tests of the water service and ascertain if the additions and improvements are satisfactory. Also an additionaal reduction of 30 points in the penalty rates for each $1,000 of insurance will be declared on re-rating. By the new system put into effect by the Charleroi Water Company there is practically no danger of the town suffering from a lack of water even for a short period The pump station could be closed down for hours at a time and the people never know it, owing to the reserve supply of water which would be kept on hand in the reservoir However this will not be done.

ELIZABETH McGUIRE IS CLAIMED VICTIM BY THE OPEN GRATE

Five-Year-Old Luella Avenue Girl Reaches for Article on Mantel and Her Dress Takes Fire

In the person of Elizabeth McGuire the 5-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs Michael McGuire of Luella avenue, the open grate this morning claimed another victim. The little girl received burns last night at about 7 o'clock and death occurred this morning at 9 o'clock She was conscious from the time of the accident until the time of her death.

Little Elizabeth was alone for a little while in one of the rooms when a fire was burning in the grate. Reaching up to the mantel for some little article she desired her clothing took fire. In a moment her dress was all ablaze Running to the top of the stairs leading to the cellar she called to her brothers and sisters there and they hastened to her aid.

Removing their coats hastily they threw them around the little girl and extinguished the flames but not until she had been fatally burned. Dr. N. W. Patton was called but could do nothing to save the child's life. Mr. McGuire is a well known resident in Charleroi, being employed by the Greensboro Gas company.

GOVERNOR COMMENDS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

State Executive Tells Chester County Prosecutor He Did Duty in Pushing Case Against Lynchers

The Executive Department at Harrisburg has made public letters passing between Governor John K. Tener, and District Attorney Robert S Gawthrop of Chester county. The Governor says there has evidently been a gross miscarriage of justice in the Coatesville lynching cases, but he warmly commends the District Attorney for his efforts to secure convictions. The Governor says:

Since the close of your court term, when some eight cases growing out of the Coatesville lynching were tried. I have had in mind writing to you, but only now find time to do so.

From my own knowledge as well as from information received through the Attorney General's department, I know that with a full and correct sense of your oath of office you have performed your duties incident thereto and in connection with these cases with fidelity and great ability. Speaking for the State I commend your every act, and Chester county should deem itself fortunate to command the services of so faithful and capable an official.

From the evidence secured and submitted there has evidently been a miscarriage of justice, but since we rest our faith in the jury and jury system, we must abide by their verdict. The time will come, I am sure, when your splendid work will be recognized and commended by all the good citizens of Chester county, as it is now by all right thinking people throughout the Commonwealth.

In the cases yet to be tried I urge the same zeal upon your part as you have exhibited in the cases just concluded, and I sincerely hope that Chester county may not forget its obligation to law, to State and to civilization .

Please permit me to express to you my very great appreciation of your letter of commendation received this morning.

I am gratified beyond measure to know that you believe that the prosecutions in the Coatesville lynching cases were conducted earnestly and faithfully But the result cannot fail to shake one's faith in the trial by jury. Mr. Cunningham has doubtless told you that the commonwealth had some almost perfect cases and should have received prompt convictions

I am deeply indebted to you for the personal interest you have taken in the matter and it is a pleasure to be able to assure you that our best people commend the State as well as the county authorities for their zeal and courage.

It is impossible to predict what future juries may do.

The arrests were made in connection with the same affair. Robert Frew and Sherman Kiefer were the two placed under arrest. Both left forfeits of $3. Steel Town Working Hard for Its Candidate for Office

IN THE GAME TO N

Same Kind of Backing J. K. Tener Got in Charleroi Will be Given

Like Charleroi, when John K. Tener was a candidate first for Congress and later for Governor and the town out of civic pride gave him an almost unanimous vote, Donora is making the same effort for its candidate. Dr. A. V. Lewis, Republican nominee for prothonotary. The chances are that the doctor will leave Donora with nearly if not quite 1,000 votes to his credit. This will give him a tremendous lead in the county and one that can hardly be overcome should the Republican vote happen to slump elsewhere, which is not expected

Last Wednesday the Republicans of Donora opened headquarters in the First National Bank building, which will be open during the remainder of the campaign. An oranization has been effected and a systematic effort will be made from this time hence to get the vote out on election day. So great is the enthusiasm for the home candidate and the rest of the ticket, that the work and interest on the part of Donora hustlers is not going to stop at the corporate limits of the town. They are preparing to make a complete canvass of the county.

For this purpose they have appointed a committee of 25 of the leading Republicans of the town, who will each spend at least two days visiting various parts of the county in the interest of Dr. Lewis in particular and the rest of the ticket incidentally. Not a corner of the county is to be overlooked by this committee, who propose to make a most thorough canvass. This committee is composed of the following well known citizens:

J. P Castner, E. J. Iiams, James T. Rabe, Herman Dague. John Vogel, Dr. M. H. Day, Jacob Ostrander, O. G. Frazier, Harry L. Beck, George W. Allen, C. T. Lewis, Councilman W. T. Rabe, Sam Wilson, Dr. W. T. Whitledge, Squire W. S Coatsworth, Wm. Tobin, Peter Saunders, Dr. W. H. Lewis, Dr. W. J. Add Sprowls, J. C. Laing, Dr. W. H. Cowan, Chas, Ceglarski, Burgess W. S. Spragg, Squire F. B Hambry, and D. S. Bayne.

Already arrangements are being made for the big Republican rally to be held at Donora on Thursday night of next week. There is to be a mammoth parade, red fire, oratory, and a big time generally. The local committee proposes to have the blowout go on record and it is expected to be the biggest and most enthusiastic demonstration ever held in Donora

A FAVORABLE PROSPECT

There is one good prospect in store for Charleroi next season and that is the number of roads which are to be constructed both by the State and the county. The roads promised this season by State Commissioner E. M. Bigelow between Speers and Charleroi and between this town and Monongahela are sure to be started early in the season if a start is not made this fall, which will add to the industrial developments of the community. It is also possible that the county road between Charleroi and Donora may be approved by the grand jury and constructed next season, which is a work of considerable proportions.

All this will make work for the community, and will take the place for a season if no longer of the plants that are shut down. What is needed now above all things is the work for the people who already live in Charleroi. With the suspension of the Plate Glass plant and the Charleroi Coal works, a thousand workers are thrown idle who formerly were employed While some of these have sought and obtained work elsewhere, others are still idle The road work next season will be a big help to the community and while that is in progress, something more may turn up

WHAT THEN?

With the beginning of proceedings against the United States Steel corporation by the Government, steps are being taken to dissolve that gigantic corporation As a matter of course the basis of the suit is the supposed restraint of trade by the big corporation due to a practical monopolization of business in the iron and steel industry, as well as numerous other subsidiary interests included in the gigantic corporation.

Suppose that the big trust is completely dissolved as a large element of people seem to desire, and conditions that previously existed are restored. What is likely to happen? History would no doubt repeat itself. Private interests would compete remorselessly for the business and prices would be based on the necessities of each and every firm to do business Price cutting would soon follow, wages would be reduced, until the enture industry would again be demoralized Mills and mines would shut down, and the whole industry would be in the same chaotic condition as the bituminous coal mining industry is today. Unrestrained competition has as many evils as the trust, in these days of fierce competition for business.

While it is desired to curb the trusts from the extreme of complete monopolization this is an era of combination of resources, and progress cannot be attained without the co-operation of interests It takes big capital, big brains and big men to work out the material problems of the present age, and efforts to prevent this is a sprag in the wheel of progress. There is a rational middle ground to pursue, and a return to previous conditions of unrestrained competition will result in the old wasteful methods and a rapid dissipation of the natural resources which will ultimately retard the march of civilization It is well to restrain the trusts, but to "bust" them completely will be like pulling down the pillars of the temple

"Most any one can be an editor," says G H. Thomas, in the Monessen Friday Evening Call "All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days out of the week, four weeks of the month and twelve months of the year and 'edit' such stuff as this

"Mrs Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry.

"A mischievous lad of Piketown threw a stone and struck Mr. Jike in the alley last Tuesday.

"John Doe climed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch.

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green several times on the public square.

"Isaiah Trimmer of Running Creek was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda.

"Mr. Fong while harnessing a broncho last Saturday was kicked just south of his corn patch.

"Yes, it's a wonder they draw salaries for it."

"Speaking of Percival Phillips, the Brownsville boy who is now serving as a correspondent in the war between Italy and Turkey at Tripoli, for a London newspaper, reminds me of the sendoff the boys on the Pittsburg Dispatch gave him when he left that city for New York to serve as correspondent in the metropolis for the Dispatch," said a valley newspaper man a day or two ago "Percy, was one of the reporters on the Dispatch, and received the promotion, and the boys all assembleed in the news room to bid him good bye the night he started for New York He brought his overcoat and suit case to the office—his 'keister' and his 'benny'—as the show people say—and left them there while he paid his respects to his fellow workers

"Then it was that one of the boys went to the exchange desk and cutting the heading off a weekly Ohio exchange, pasted it across the side of Percey's suit case. Percy never noticed it until he got into the Union Station when he saw many people staring at him and smiling. Then he glanced down on his suit case and there in bold type was the label, 'Xenia Torchlight and Examiner.'

"'I'm country looking enough without being labeled,' said Percy, when he saw the joke was on him.'"

SUPERSTITIONS OF THE HOME

Some of Them Are Traced to Domestic Economy and Others to Thrifty Habits.

The signs and wonders of the household have markedly diminished in the last quarter century Many of them were picturesque and diverting Few of them were taken seriously enough to be harmful

It is easy to trace some of them to their sources in domestic economy. A group of them, for example, had to do with the approach of an unexpected guest The scissors or a knife sticking up straight in the floor, a dropped dish cloth, or a long, floating stem in a cup of tea—all these foretold arrivals They had the agreeable double effect of keeping the household up to a high mark of preparedness and of breaking monotony by the pleasure of anticipated society If the prophesied caller followed the dropping of scissors the sign received an increased authority When the promise failed, the failure was promptly forgotten

Another group of superstitions rests upon the thrifty habits of former times To pick up a pin brought good luck To neglect to snuff a candle until it was wasted by a "weeper" was sure to involve misfortune. An overabundance of tea grounds in the cup spoke of careless measures, and so threatened debt. A second helping of food before the first was eaten foretold an undesirable beggar.

The woman's mind, if left to itself, turns naturally to believe the make-believe. A housewife likes to pit her unreason against her reason. The mere act of absurd illogic gives variety and charm to an otherwise dull afternoon of housework, and nobody is the worse for stretching the arm of imagination to include a little mild superstition of the old fashioned sort.

Aged Woman Dies at Home of Daughter

Mrs. Dixon, Aged 83 Expires After Suffering Nearly Four Months

After suffering for nearly four months of dropsy, Mrs. Eliza Jane Dixon, aged 88 years and 28 days, died this morning at 11:55 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs M. E. Johnston, at 302 Fifth street. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, with Rev. F. A. Richards, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. L W Shey, rector of the Episcopal church officiating.

Mrs Dixon has lived in Charleroi the last six years, coming here from Fayette City which was her home the greater part of her life. She was the widow of Ralph Dixon, who died six years ago.

Three sons and two daughters survive. They are Mrs. Johnston of Charleroi, Mrs. John Heibel of Venetia; John of Donora, Alexander and Hudson of Fayette City. There are also 42 grand children, 27 great grand children and one great-great grand child living.

Mrs. Dixon was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church here and was a faithful worker when her health would permit.

Washington County Man Dies in Ohio

Mrs John Crites returned recently from New Concord, Ohio, where she had been attending the funeral of her father, a former well known resident of Washington county. This was Willam Paden, who died at his Ohio home September 18, at the ripe age of 93 years and three months

The surviving family consists of six children of whom Mrs. Crites of Charleroi is the eldest. Mr. Paden moved from Washington county to a farm near New Concord in Ohio in 1868, that he might be better able to give his children a college education. Four of these graduated in one of the regular courses in Muskingum College and one from the musical course.

Mr. Paden was an active worker in the Presbyterian church and before the Civil War was an ardent Abolitionist, and took an active part in anti-slavery work. Later he became a Prohibitionists, and was one of a large class of citizens whose work and influence has resulted in making Ohio a virtually dry State. His life work left a deep impression in the community where he lived, and although he had passed the alloted time of man his death was sincerely regretted by all

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI.

Big features were the rule instead of the exception at the Palace Theatra this week In addition to "Colleen Bawn," the thrilling photoplay of Dion Boucicault's great Irish drama, which with three reels occupied the entire facilities of the theatre for one night, came some realistic pictures of the Austin Disaster. These were in the Pathe Weekly Bulletin, and showed the wreckage in the path of the destructive deluge which killed 80 people and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property. The pictures showed the havoc wrought in the two towns of Austin and Costello, which were entirely wiped out by the bursting of the big dam above the towns. Other good photoplays occupied the boards, and with Miss Helen Atwill's charming singing in spot light and illustrated songs, the Palace h as been a most popular resort this week, drawing capacity crowds at the most of the performances and not being able to accommodate all at the special features.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

The Star Theatre presented extraordinary interest in its attractions this week, the chief of which was the great three reel film, "The James Boys," or In Old Missouri." This was a presentation of the great guerilla warfare, which characterized the border struggle between Kansas and Missouri in the contest for and against the extension of Slave holding territory "Mat and Jeff and the Newsboys" was another delightful feature, and other striking photoplays were "Pals," and "Her Captive" In order to accommodate all his patrons Manager Tom Cowan gave a continual performance all day Thursday and in the evening when the great James Bros film was on exhibition.

THE NIXON—PITTSBURG.

The many thousands who have read the story, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," written by John Fox, Jr, will be impatient to see the play, which Eugene Walter, the clever dramatist has evolved from the delightful narrative of the Virginia hills, and which comes to the Nixon Theatre the week of October 30

It is a soul stirring, dramatic tale of the mountain, with a wild, primitive girl as the pivot on which swings a thrilling plot In Mr. Walter's version you follow the same trail that the author of the book guided you up to reach the lone mountain cabin and the tall, rugged, lonely tree, though the the dramatist has cast a more subtle veil of romance over his protagonist, June, and makes her the cause of the deadly feud that starts between the factional mountaineers Klaw and Earlanger have given the play a magnificent setting, and the company is headed by Charlotte Walker, one of America's most brilliant actresses

DEVIL BIRD HAS AWFUL CRY

Natives of Ceylon Are Not to Be Blamed for Being Terrified by Its Scream.

Of all the awe-inspiring sounds emitted by wild creatures none, it is said is to be compared to that of the "devil bird" of Ceylon, whose cry has been likened to the scream of a human being undergoing the most frightful torture Naturalists have identified this bird with the brown wood-owl found in Hindustan.

The natives of Ceylon regard the cry of this bird with superstitious horror, for, it is claimed, its scream heard at night presages the most dire misfortunes

A British official of the Ceylon civil service has given some study to this curious bird Its ordinary note, he states, is a magnificent clear shout like that of a human being heard at a great distance, and producing a fine effect in the silence of the night.

But the sounds that have earned for the bird its bad name, and which this officer reports he heard to perfection but once, are said to be well-nigh indescribable the most appalling that can be imagined, and scarcely to be heard without a shudder It has been compared to the cries of a boy in torture, whose screams are being stopped by strangulation—Scientific American

Berlin Police Arbitrarily Fix the Sums They Shall Be Allowed for Food.

Another instance of the way in which the Berlin police authorities interest themselves in every detail of the private life of the city's inhabitants is afforded by a decree just issued by the police president which arbitrarily fixes the sum per day which is to be allowed for food to domestic servants during their employers' absence in summer

The term "domestic servant" includes everything, from the maid of all work of the small household to the butler, with all his retinue of lesser lights, in the house of the rich, and the decree lays down that each man servant shall receive a daily allowance of 35 cents and each maid servant 30 cents for food during the whole time of their employers absence

The new police regulation has been greeted with more delight by the servants than by their employers, especially among the middle classes, where the domestic servant problem in Germany is already acute enough Although the amount of the daily allowance cannot be considered as excessive in relation to the present prices of food, when it is remembered that the ordinary wage, which in Germany is anything from $750 per month upward for the average domestic servant, has also to be paid during the employer's absence, it will be seen that the new regulation will mean a considerable item in the reckoning of the middle-class family about to start on its summer vacation

Forty-five Executed in Hungary in 1728 on the Charge of Being Cannibals.

The persecution of Gypsies recalls the old belief that the Gypsies were cannibals, and the methods by which judicial confirmation of the belief was sometimes obtained In 1726 45 Hungarian Gypsies were executed on this charge First racked until they confessed to murder, they were taken to the place where their victims were supposed to be buried and racked again. No bodies were discovered Therefore they confessed to eating them, and were duly executed. Joseph II sent a commission down to investigate the case later, and the entire innocence of the Gypsies was proved, but history does not say what happened to the witnesses for the prosecution.

Gypsies are still more or less "persecuted," though in our milder modern sense of the word And no wonder A couple of years ago it was stated on official authority that in Hungary most of the serious crimes—murders, kidnaping and robberies—were committed by Gypsies, and very few of the offenders were caught. Gypsies are mighty difficult customers to tackle When it was proposed in France that all nomads should have identity cards, to be checked at each stopping place, one of them said to a Matin reporter: "But I can't read, and I can't write, and I don't know how old I am, nor where I was born and I don't remember the names of the places where my children were born, nor their ages exactly We don't bother ourselves about such things" What can you do with people so astutely ignorant?

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Charleroi People.

As one weak link weakens a chain so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards more serious troubles There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill Charleroi cures are the proof

Mrs John Wilson Third street Charleroi, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Piper Bros' Drug Store have been used in our family for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble and have always brought great relief. I took this remedy several years ago for disordered kidneys and in view of the good results I received, I recommend it highly."

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

IF a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

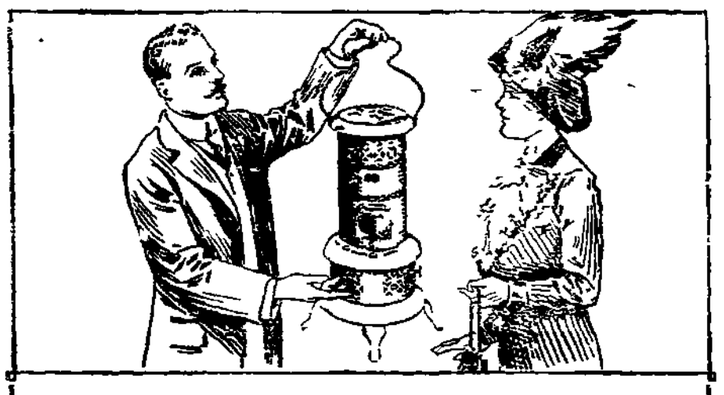
For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.



An Innovation in Oil Heaters

The Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater, with its drums enameled in turquoise, is an ornament to any room, whether in the country or city home.

No home is quite complete without a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a necessity in the fall and spring, when it is too warm to start the regular heating apparatus, and too cool to be without heat. In the midst of winter it is often convenient as an auxiliary heater, as there are always some cold corners in a house.

The enameled heater always presents a nice appearance, as the enamel will not tarnish or burn off. It is not an "enamel paint," but it is the same as the enamel of your cooking utensils.

The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient portable heating device you can find. An automatically-locking flame spreader prevents turning the wick high enough to smoke
